HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania voters head for the polls Tuesday for their final say in a primary election campaign, sparked almost exclusively by a lively battle for the Republican nomination for governor.

In all, party candidates will be selected for governor, U. S. Senator, lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs, congress and the state legislature.

The voting turnout is expected to be light—mostly because of the lack of interest, but also because long range weather forecasts call for showers all day.

Polls Open

The Commonwealth's 9,157 polling places will open at 8 a.m. and close at 9 p.m. EDT.

Observers look to the battle between U. S. Rep. William W. Scranton and J. Collins McSparran for the GOP gubernatorial nomination to draw the heaviest vote.

Scranton, a 44-year-old millionaire from Lackawanna County, has the backing of the Republican state organization. McSparran, the master of the Pennsylvania Grange, is an independent candidate.

Both have waged rousing campaigns.

Democratic Side

On the Democratic side, former Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth, the Democratic choice for governor, faces only token opposition from a pair of independents who lack statewide political recognition.

Dilworth's rivals are Harvey F. Johnston, a real estate man from McKees Rocks near Pittsburgh, and Charles J. Schmitt of Girard, Erie County.

Schmitt's chief plank is legalizing gambling and horse racing. Johnston says he entered the race to give Pennsylvanians a chance to vote for someone else besides a "hand-picked, organization-controlled candidate." Neither has done much campaigning.

Other Races

The other statewide races are cut and dry. U. S. Sen. Joseph Clark, 61, a leader in the liberal wing of the Democratic party, is unopposed in his bid for re-nomination. So is U. S. Rep. James E. Van Zandt, 63, who is seeking the GOP nomination for the U. S. Senate.

Also unopposed are these candidates: Democrats — House Majority Leader Stephen McCann, running for lieutenant governor, and Miss Genevieve Blatt, running for reelection as secretary of internal affairs.

Republicans — State Sen. Raymond P. Shaffer, Crawford County, running for lieutenant governor, and Mrs. Audrey Kelly, for internal affairs.

The Democrats will go into the primaries with their biggest edge over Republicans in voter registration—2,808,703 to 2,647,708. But, it is the Scranton-McSparran battle that political analysts will watch the closest.

McSparran has pinned his campaign on the theme of upsetting what he calls "boss-control" and "boss-controlled candidates" like Rep. Scranton. He also has called for the repeal of two of Pennsylvania's most controversial laws—mandatory school district reorganization and the Prevailing Wage Act.

Scranton, on the other hand, has ignored McSparran almost completely. Never, during his entire campaign, did he mention the Grange master by name. Instead he concentrated on Dilworth.

Scranton has predicted he will win the GOP nomination by a 5-2 margin. McSparran scoffed at the prediction, claiming he will win by "slightly more" than 50 per cent of the GOP votes cast.

Congressional Seats Also to be selected Tuesday are party candidates for 27 congressional seats, 210 House seats and 25 state Senate seats.

Seven incumbent congressmen face primary opposition. Thirty-five candidates, including 20 incumbents, are unopposed.

One of the congressional candidates is Pulitzer prize winning novelist James A. Michener who is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for congressman from Bucks and Lehigh Counties.

Ten state senators and 94 assemblymen also are running unopposed, leaving 97 House members and 10 state senators with primary battles on their hands. Five senators and 19 incumbent assemblymen chose not to seek reelection.

In Monroe County the Democratic candidates for General Assemblyman are Van D. Yetter and Floyd Butz. On the Republican ticket the candidates for the same office are Gerald Snyder and Clifford F. Heller.

Forrest R. Smith is the Democratic candidate for State Committeeman. He is unopposed in this party. The Republicans have two candidates for the office. They are Harold Kresge and John C. Mullins.

In the Democratic County Chairman race there are three candidates. They are Jacob F. Altomose, Stuart F. Pipher and David A. Price.

In all voting districts of the county a committeeman and committeewoman will be elected on both tickets.

Assassination Attempt On Sukarno Fails

LONDON (AP) — Indonesia's President Sukarno was reported to have escaped unharmed early Sunday when an assassin tried to shoot him during a religious ceremony in Jakarta.

Jakarta radio reports monitored in London said five persons were slightly hurt and that police seized the assailant.

The reported shooting was the fifth assassination attempt made against the 61-year-old Sukarno during his long and stormy career as head of Indonesia's 90 million people.

Previous Attempt

The last previous attempt on Sukarno's life was made Jan. 7 while he was touring the South Celebes to whip up support for invasion of Dutch-held West New Guinea.

Jakarta radio said the assassination attempt was made in the city's Ikada square at the start of a morning prayer meeting.

The radio reported that the Indonesian state security organization had learned that Karto Suwirjo, described as the leader of a fanatical Darul Islam group, had ordered nine of his men to kill the president.

As a result, said the broadcast, security forces took "certain measures." There was no elaboration.

The broadcast said: "A person suddenly attacked and fired shots at President Sukarno. With God's protection, the president was not harmed by the attack."

"The attacker was arrested immediately and investigation is now under way."

"As a result of the incident five persons were slightly injured."

The prayer meeting marked the start of Sacrifice Day commemorations, a Moslem holiday.

The attacker was not identified in the broadcast.

Landing Of U.S. Troops Expected As Warships Steam To Thailand

Correspondent Says

Playing Poker Over West New Guinea

HOLLANDIA, West New Guinea (AP) — In the poker game being played for West New Guinea, the Dutch believe President Sukarno of Indonesia is bluffing.

"He won't launch a major invasion," says a government spokesman. "We've called his bluff."

The Dutch, seemingly more confident than ever, discount recent statements by Sukarno that he will take the territory — which Indonesia claims is rightfully hers — before the end of the year.

Sukarno is conducting a psychological war to put pressure on the Dutch through international opinion and to divide the Dutch home front. Or so goes the line of thinking here.

Instead of a big push, Dutch military men believe Indonesia will continue such jabs and pinpricks as the recent landing of paratroopers and infiltrators in the western end of the territory.

But that doesn't mean the Dutch are not preparing for a possible major offensive. Additional troops and equipment are arriving almost daily at the big Dutch base at Biak. Two government ships are now headed this way with 1,650 more troops aboard.

"We are not boasting when we say we believe we can handle most anything Sukarno throws at us," said a spokesman. But privately ately Dutch officials say they would be powerless, without help, to stop a major offensive.

So far, results have been on the side of the Dutch: The cold war between the two countries warmed on the night of Jan. 15 when four Indonesian motor torpedo boats heading toward New Guinea were turned back by Dutch ships and patrol planes.

Gen. Franco Orders End To Worrisome Strikes

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco was reported Sunday to have ordered government officials to bring an end to worrisome strikes in northern Spain without violence and with pay increases wherever possible.

Government officials pictured Franco as deeply concerned about finding a peaceful solution to the walkouts—some a month long, which are unusual for Spain.

Franco Promises

But much of the country turned its interest to the wedding Monday in Athens of Spanish Prince Juan Carlos and Princess Sophie of Greece. Franco has promised to make the prince the ruler of Spain in a monarchy.

Many Spaniards had expected Franco to announce before the wedding the naming of Juan Carlos as Prince of Asturias, scene of a walkout of 30,000 coal miners. The title is traditional for the heir to the Spanish throne.

The royal wedding may force Franco to speed up the turnover of power to Juan Carlos. Many

New Indian President Calls Unity Within His Country

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, one of India's most famous philosophers, was sworn in Sunday as this nation's president. He called for unity of India's millions, often at odds on religion, language and other issues.

Symbolizing the government's recognition of the Moslem minority in this predominantly Hindu country, Zakir Husain, Moslem scholar-educator, was inducted as vice president.

As chief Moslem spokesman in India, one of Husain's tasks will be to answer rival Pakistan's charges of repression of Moslems in India. He also will act as Moslem spokesman in the dispute with Pakistan over Kashmir, the divided princely state claimed by both nations.

The Hindu-Moslem rivalries, that sometimes result in killings, seemed to be in the mind of the new president as the tall, statesman-author took the oath before members of Parliament and the diplomatic corps in the central hall of Parliament.

15 Minute Address

In a 15-minute inaugural address, Radhakrishnan called for unity combined "with hospitality for varied beliefs."

"There can be no equality without economic justice," he said, adding that India often had lapsed from this ideal.

"In a mood of humility and national repentance," the president said, "we should strive to correct our past mistakes, remove the indignities we have imposed on our fellow men and march forward."

Husain is not the only Moslem in a high position in India, which claims to have the highest Moslem population in the world aside from Indonesia and Pakistan. Others include Cabinet ministers, governors, ambassadors and high civil and military officials.

The impact of Husain's elevation will take time, mainly because illiterate masses of Moslems are far removed from the currents of political life. But a government spokesman said Husain will make frequent tours of India and his presence will soon be felt.

Diplomacy Used To Solve Crisis

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — With U.S. warships steaming toward Southeast Asian waters, the United States was reported engaged in brisk diplomatic activity Sunday in an attempt to solve the crisis in Laos.

On the fighting front, U.S. military sources said pro-Communist rebels sweeping across northwest Laos are consolidating their authority over towns and villages as they advance and meeting little resistance.

There was no confirmation, however, either from the government or U.S. military advisers that the rebels had struck to within 24 miles of the royal capital of Luang Prabang, the government's last major position in the north. Rebel broadcasts made the claim Saturday.

President Kennedy ordered units of the U.S. 7th Fleet into Southeast Asian waters because of the pro-Communist rebel advance in northern Laos and apparently the ship movement was well under way.

Naval sources in Manila said some warships sailed from there Friday to join other 7th Fleet units in Southeast Asian waters. The bulk of the 7th Fleet "has continually been at sea ever since the crisis in Laos began in 1960," one Navy source said.

The fleet, comprised of 125 ships—carriers, cruisers, destroyers and antisubmarine groups—and 650 warplanes, is ready to meet any emergency in Southeast Asia within hours, the Navy said.

Press reports in Japan said 2,000 U.S. Marines in training there were ordered back to the big island base of Okinawa because of the crisis in Laos but a U.S. Navy spokesman called the Marine movement routine.

Authoritative sources said messages on the crisis have been exchanged between Washington and the royal government in the past two days.

U.S. Ambassador Winthrop Brown had an unusual Sunday conference with Acting Foreign Minister Sisouk Na Champassak, the second in two days. Then Sisouk went to see Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, deputy premier and strongman of the royal government.

Neither side would comment. But informed sources said the government has exchanged cables with neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma in France, asking him to return and resume efforts to form a coalition government.

They said contacts so far were encouraging, although reports in Paris indicated Souvanna Phouma had rejected the first government proposal. Souvanna Phouma is the choice of the United States and the Communist bloc to head a unity government that would make Laos a neutral nation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may land additional troops in Thailand, bordering Communist-threatened Laos, it was learned Sunday, amid reports President Kennedy has issued a widespread military alert to all U.S. forces in the Pacific and many units on the mainland.

The United States had deployed a power-packed naval force into standby position in southeast Asian waters over the weekend, and a battle group from these units will land — from air or sea — in Thailand if that government gives permission, informed sources said.

The reports of the alert said it was far short of the type of warning that would be given to troops in the event of war. Almost all Pacific forces were believed to be included in the alert, as well as many mobile units on the mainland which might be used to back up those actually deployed in troubled Southeast Asia.

Units ordered on alert were believed to include those of the new strike command — forces which can move swiftly in the event of so-called brush-fire wars.

President Kennedy cut short a weekend at Glen Ora, his leased estate in Virginia, in order to confer with top advisers in Washington. However, a State Department spokesman merely said he wishes to be brought up to date. Unofficially it was reported no new decisions were made.

The report of the imminent landing of troops in Thailand and the widespread alert of military forces came from high government sources.

Thailand, an independent country bordering on Laos, is a member of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Under the SEATO treaty, the United States has certain obligations to assist in the defense of Thailand, should it be threatened.

The new White House conference came 24 hours after units of the 7th Fleet, including combat-ready Marines and the helicopters needed to put them ashore — had started to move into standby position off the coasts of Viet Nam and Thailand.

Community Concerts Close Season With Chamber Group

LAST Thursday evening the members of the Pocono Community Concert Association heard a superb chamber music group present the concluding concert of the 1961-62 season. This was undoubtedly one of the best concerts of instrumental music heard in the area.

The group, titled "Music for Tonight," Albert Tipton's ensemble group consisted of a double string quintet, plus bass, flute, English horn, oboe, and piano. These excellent artists, under their talented conductor, gave an unusually fine demonstration of chamber music-making.

It was a joy to listen to music played without being forced, and to hear the inner voices in just the right balance. Tipton's musicians were responsive to his direction, and showed that they could produce a most effective crescendo, as well as play beautifully.

The conductor is a flutist of considerable ability. He was a pupil of one of the world's greatest instrumentalists, William Kincaid, formerly 1st flutist of the Philadelphia Orchestra. After completing his work at the Curtis Institute he played with the Philadelphia Orchestra for four years.

Tipton joined his ensemble in several numbers as flute soloist. His low tones are excellent, as was well demonstrated when he and Harold Hall, English horn soloist, played Sibelius' "Portrait of Pelleas and Pastorale." The blending of the English horn and flute was especially well done.

Mr. Hall plays the English horn (alto oboe) with great skill and control. In the encore, "The March of the Toy Lead Soldiers" he used the smaller oboe to produce a toy trumpet effect. Mary Norris played the Mozart E flat, K 449, piano concerto in a lively manner — it was a fine piece for a spring evening. She had admirable support from her conductor-husband and the ensemble.

The final programmed number was a "Perpetual Motion" by Ries, one of several such pieces written to display the nimble fingering and rapid bowing of violinists. Mr. Tipton apparently took a tip from his former maestro, Dr. Eugene Ormandy, and had all six of his violinists play the number in unison. And it was in unison! Not only did the violinists finish in a blaze of virtuosity, but the entire group, with three encores, brought a memorable evening of music-making to a close.

The eight-weeks course will open on June 25 and close on August 17, the program director stated. Three previous NSF summer institutes at the State University of New York college were for six weeks each.

Dr. Dubins said that the Onondaga program, the second exclusively for earth science study and the fourth consecutive National Science Foundation-financed summer program to be held at the college is one of 24 to be offered in the United States this summer.

A $51,900 grant from NSF will pay tuition and allowances for these high school teachers selected to take part in the advanced study at Onondaga.

Cuban Gas Depot Vast Blaze

HAVANA (AP) — Fire roared through an oil and gasoline depot in the town of Colon, 119 miles east of Havana on Cuba's central highway, the Communist newspaper Hoy said Sunday. It reported to be a blaze of vast proportions. Fire-fighting units from other cities in the Matanzas Province area rushed to the scene, the newspaper said.

The report, which did not indicate whether the fire was checked, said the cause was unknown. There was no report in Hoy of casualties.

WARREN, Pa. (AP) — A New York man was killed and another was injured Saturday in an auto accident that started in New York and ended in Pennsylvania.

Maitland Seekings, 25, of Jamestown, N.Y., was pronounced dead on the scene of a broken neck.

The driver, Donald Stewart, 25, also of Jamestown, was admitted to the S.C.A. Hospital at Jamestown.

Pennsylvania state police said Stewart's southbound car ran out of control on Legislative Route 61041 north of Warren and ran off the right side of the road. The car started skidding in New York, police said, and ended up in Pennsylvania.

Stolen Car Is Returned To Owner

STROUDSBURG police found the missing car of Maynard Abelloff, of 112 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, yesterday 100 feet from Route 611 on Godfrey's Ridge Road, Stroudsburg.

Police dusted the car for fingerprints, but it had been wiped clean.

A check of the speedometer revealed that the car had been driven 100 miles since it was taken late Saturday from the Colonial Diner parking lot, Stroudsburg.

Abelloff told police that he had parked the 1962 car at 2 p.m. and placed the keys under the floor mat. He discovered the theft yesterday at 9:30 a.m.

Police said the car had evidently been parked on Godfrey's Ridge Road sometime late Saturday night as dew and tree blossoms littered the top.

The keys were found over the sun visor. The car was returned to the owner.

New Ice Skating Rink In The Poconos

By PAT WILLIAMS Daily Record Reporter

THE Pocono's first indoor ice-skating rink will open to the public on Thursday. Pocono Ice-A-Rama is located four miles north of Stroudsburg on Routes 191 and 196. The modernistic facade of blue and white stucco houses a complete amusement center.

The ice-rink is a 50 foot by 80 foot rectangle covered with from ½ to 1½ inches of ice. The ice is formed by spraying a fine mist of hot water over the surface of a concrete slab. Circulating in pipes beneath the concrete is a mixture of Prestone and water at 22-degrees Centigrade. The Prestone keeps the water from freezing in the pipes.

With ice to skate on and skate rentals from the office, all that's needed is music which is provided by a columnar speaker blanketing the rink with sound.

Atmosphere is provided by a mural which covers the end-wall. Harold Singer spent a day putting in a scene of the snow-clad Sierra Mountains, evergreen trees and a frozen lake.

Benches on either side of the rink allow beginners to start

Icebox Holes Save Boys Lives

ST. MARYS, Pa. (AP) — Two holes in the bottom of an abandoned ice box have been credited for saving the lives of two young cousins.

Anthony Micale, 5, and Terry Murray, 4, both of nearby Kersy, became trapped in the box Friday.

cautiously or experienced skaters to rest.

If parents bring their children for recreation but feel they prefer not to try the ice, a lounge just outside provides conversation groupings before a modernistic brick-faced fireplace. The raised hearth features marbled colored concrete tiles measuring 18 x 18. The walls are paneled in light walnut and a checkerboard pattern of black and white vinyl tile is on the floor.

To the right of the door, inside, is a self-contained snack bar with vending machines for light refreshments.

In the center of the row of vending machines is a dollar-bill changer. (The first in the area.) Electronically, it "reads" the face of a one dollar bill, accepts it and change tinkles in the coin return. A five or ten-dollar bill won't fool the electronic eye. Put one in and with a click, the machine rejects it.

Numerous coin operated amusements have been installed, including an automatic record player. Seating for 40 people is set up near the refreshment machines which will offer selections of sandwiches and other dishes. Dancing will be allowed to the record machine.

While visitors or non-skaters are in the lounge, skaters skim counter-clockwise around on the ice in a temperature that ranges between 45 and 50 degrees. An air-conditioner of more than 40 tons capacity handles freezing the ice and keeping the air temperature within those limits. On cold winter days, a heating system warms the lounge and stabilizes air temperature in the rink.

As the thickness of the ice builds up from spraying, it is shaved down by a shaving machine to maintain proper thickness.

There will be free skating during the grand opening Thursday. Special rates are provided for groups and parties. Supervised skating will include couples only; ladies and men only. For the novice, a skating instructor is on hand.

The building and design was based on ideas of the owner, Charles Poallilo. Parking is provided in front of the building and post-lamps light both the parking area and the front of the building.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair.

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If your symptoms indicate that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself.

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. This is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that the great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are 18 scalp disorders that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. If you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them information to help them analyze your problem. This information should include how long your hair has been thinning, and whether or not you now have or ever have had any of the following conditions: Do you have dandruff? Is it dry or oily? whether your scalp erupts in pimples or other irritations, does your forehead become oily or greasy? does your scalp itch and how often? and any other information you feel might be helpful. All letters will be answered promptly. Send the above information, and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Box 66001, Houston 6, Texas. —Adv.

FLOYD BUTZ Answers Unjust Criticism

I would like to answer a question that was presented to me both by letter in The Daily Record and on WVPO.

By the way, the question on WVPO was asked by Carl Dickl, a student at East Stroudsburg State College—but who lives in Sacramento, Pa.—and by a person who obviously didn't care to use his name.

Voters might be interested to know that I understand young Dickl lives with Joe Koverick, an active worker for my opponent.

Now, as for the question concerning re-imbursement of a fee to Korean Veterans under House Bill 2355 . . .

During my term as Register and Recorder of Monroe County, the veterans started to file for the Korean State Bonus in August, 1959; veterans were charged $1.00 for a photostatic copy.

The bill, at that time, recommended that the charge be dropped and a retroactive payment be made to those who had already paid. However, the County Solicitor informed the County Commissioners and me, as Register and Recorder, that a BACK PAYMENT COULD NOT BE MADE WITHOUT SURCHARGE.

The same advice and opinion was also given to me at that time by my personal lawyer, a man also well versed in county and state law.

Let me point out further that this involved not 1,000 but a total of 285, all of which was fully accounted for to the County of Monroe and audited by an auditor appointed by that court.

Now, let me make this further point:

Even when the Veterans were given the service free—under law—the Commissioners were still required to reimburse the Register & Recorders Office the stipulated commission. I repeat—this was the law of the Commonwealth.

Aside from all of this technical information—in which I think I acted correctly with legal advice—I wish to make this most important point: People who have known me throughout my life in Monroe County know for a fact that, when able, I always helped our veterans and servicemen, of whom I am extremely proud.

I feel confident that the majority of the people of this county—know my integrity . . . they certainly know I would be the very last person to even think of short-changing a veteran or his family, even for a measly 50 cents. Isn't it strange that this question is raised at the time of election—2½ years later. I wonder who is creating this mudslinging.

I am surprised to think that certain persons would stoop to such a means to question my character.

I only hope that when you go to the polls you will remember the ridiculous scheme that was used in an effort to confuse the voters over an issue I actually—under the Law—had no control.

Thank you,

Respect For Law

Lobbying is a term in some disrepute, like the word politician. Yet, lobbying and politicians are both necessary if we are to have representative government.

But there is a Federal law covering what is permissible and what is not in the lobbying activities of private parties and the Government itself. Violation of the act can bring loss of tax deductions, and even fines and imprisonment to private individuals. Fines and imprisonment are provided also for Governmental violation of the act. Strict enforcement of the law is taken for granted so far as private parties are concerned, but it begins to appear that the Administration takes a lenient view when Government figures violate the law.

It is against the law to spend tax money to lobby for Administration bills. But it seems clear that tax money is now being spent to lobby for the Kennedy medical program and the Trade Expansion Act, and that tax money was spent last year on a sort of Federal road show which travelled from city to city drumming up support for the Administration's legislative program.

Meetings are being held quietly around the nation at which Administration spokesmen seek to enlist support for Medicare among professional welfare workers on the state and Federal payroll. Such meetings have been held in Springfield, Ill., and Raleigh, N. C., and probably elsewhere.

"Volunteers" man the offices of the Trade Expansion whoopla effort—but Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, (R., Mo.) says undoubtedly tax-supported office space, and tax-paid underlings and supplies are being used.

It is also clear that such activity could not go on unless it was permitted to do so by top Administration officials. The Justice Department is charged with enforcing this law, and we shall wait with interest, if hardly with bated breath, to see what charges will be filed against the lawbreakers.

After all, this Administration has had quite a lot to say about how citizens should respect and obey the law.

Harrisburg's Heavy Hand

How would you like to see Pennsylvania's sales tax doubled? State Senator Clarence D. Bell, Delaware County, warns it could happen unless spending is curbed.

Here is the way he put it: "If we continue to spend and spend and spend, we are going to end up with a 7 or 8-cent sales tax, and we are going to end up with a state wage tax, and we are going to end up with a very unhealthy Pennsylvania."

Furthermore, he predicts that Pennsylvania's budget for the next fiscal year will be in the neighborhood of $1,500,000,000 (billion) which is considerably ahead of the current one.

This is something to keep in mind the next time someone says: "Harrisburg will bear half the expense." That is the most misleading kind of thinking, and the most dangerous, making the rounds today.

In the last analysis, who is "Harrisburg" when it comes to paying bills? It's our own State Government and that means you who read this and all the rest of us who keep pouring millions and millions of tax dollars into the State treasury.

The idea that "Harrisburg" will pick up half the tab is an erroneous one. The State Treasurer never sent out a check which wasn't first backed up by funds collected from all of us.

If we keep leaning on Harrisburg, Harrisburg is bound to lay a heavier hand on the taxpayers and it's just possible that Senator Bell's warning about a larger sales tax could become a reality—painful as that could prove.

It Is Too Much

Herbert C. Holdridge, Brigadier General, U. S. Army (Retired), who signs himself "Administrator" of the "Constitutional Provisional Government of the United States," sends out a lot of press material. Let me quote a paragraph from General Holdridge as a basis for discussion:

"Again the crimes against our people are plotted in the Vatican with the collaboration of Big Money, implemented through Outlaw Kennedy, who rose to power by fraud... Kennedy, your (not our) Commander-in-Chief, involves us in blunder after blunder: the Cuban invasion; of Berlin; of Laos and Viet Nam; of the illegal mobilization of reservists for an undeclared, illegal war; of waging economic war against U. S. Steel and other industries; of atomic testing resumption; of involvement in the Common Market of foreign nations pooling their bankruptcies to wage economic war against us; of the recommended betrayal of our military forces to the United Nations under control of enemies of our Constitution... Having no intelligence, he must, naturally, blunder. He and his mentally retarded, 'Trigger-Happy' Irish, Roman Catholic 'Mafia' set the tune, and you generals and admirals dance the 'Twist', blindly without concern for your oath of allegiance to defend the Constitution. In the process you commit one overt act of treason after the other."

If such a paragraph were written by a Communist, as it well might be, it would be regarded as subversive General Holdridge is entitled to his opinion. He is a citizen and is entitled to speak up in opposition to any official. He dislikes President Kennedy, principally because he is a Roman Catholic and has a rich father. General Holdridge is anti-Roman Catholic, which is his privilege. He believes:

"The 'prime movers' in these acts of violence, now as then, are the Pope and his hierarchy in Rome, and the International Big Money monopolists of Wall Street."

However, we are at war with Soviet Russia. Our civilization as well as our nation is imperilled by this war. There are Republicans as well as Democrats who are critical of President Kennedy, but when it comes to the safety of the country, most Americans stand shoulder to shoulder against the enemy. General Holdridge says:

"You advance the conspiracy to create the 'enemy' Communism, knowing full well that a potential 'enemy' was necessary to justify wars and war spending to keep the economy alive, and that had not Communism existed, another 'enemy' must necessarily be created for the purpose."

This is not good talk. This gives the impression that Communism is not an enemy; that even Soviet Russia is not an enemy; that the enemy of the American people is the American government.

This has no foundation in fact. It has no meaning in American life. And yet, General Holdridge is not to be ignored, for he has a following, as there is discontent in the land, particularly among older people, who cannot adjust themselves to changes.

Inez Robb made a point in her quarrel with a hotel man in Arizona that some people cannot cope with the 20th Century. Surely that does not mean that the 20th Century is good or bad, better or worse, than the 12th or the 18th. It is here and it is making its own peculiar history.

There are those in this country who find the middle of the 20th Century a muddle and they cannot adjust their minds and habits to the results of a deep depression and three wars. They cannot grasp the consequences of the Marxist Revolution, of the development of atomic energy and of the new concepts in chemistry, physics, in medicine and psychiatry.

The youngsters know much about these developments because they are being taught very differently than we were taught. Their world is wider and deeper than ours was. Imagine what it did to a child of 10 or 11 to have gone through the experience of watching John Glenn orbit the Earth. To such a child, the Earth has become very small. Before his eyes, he saw the lights of Perth, Australia, light up in a tribute to the smallness of the world.

When that child reaches manhood, he will think differently than we do. He will look upon Pakistan as just around the corner and he will probably serve a period of conscription at the North Pole or on the Khyber Pass.

Last Roundup Of The Iron Horse?

The Pennsylvania Story

Eve Of The Primary

Harrisburg — The past two weeks have been frustrating weeks — frustrating that is, insofar as Pennsylvania's political hard-heads are concerned.

From an observer's standpoint it has been a most interesting period — one that sees finger-nails gnawed to a nubbin and then gnawed back again. It is this two or three-week period just before an election — either primary or general — that sends the shivers up and down the spines of the political old pros.

This is the period about which they are never sure. Is it a critical period — or is it meaningless?

No one has yet come up with anything approaching a specific, solid answer — and probably no one ever will!

The question is one that recurs with every election: can effective persuasion of voters be accomplished during the two weeks immediately preceding an election?

Although the primary election will be run off tomorrow, after all is said and done, and the votes counted, the question will still remain unanswered as to just how effective the campaigning has been during these past two weeks in producing victory — or defeat.

Most observers and top party strategists are generally agreed that voters as a whole have already made up their minds as to how they will vote prior to that ten-day or two-week period preceding the actual election day.

Why then do campaigns still continue during this period, and in fact, up to the firing of the final gun itself?

It's somewhat of a paradox of course, but while the general consensus seems to be that last minute campaigning actually holds little if any effect — there's still that lone possibility!

Inside You And Yours

Babying Diverticulitis

By Burton H. Fern, M.D. "Intestinal trouble? My bladder burns and stings, not my bowel!"

Sometimes, diverticulitis — bulging, inflamed intestinal lining — tickles and irritates bladder or womb.

Aging intestinal muscle wears thin — especially in the left lower abdomen. Weak spots resemble holes in a worn-out corset. Like skin bulging through gaps in the old corset, intestinal lining pokes through holes in the muscle — "diverticulitis."

Diverticulitis rarely causes trouble. Occasionally, bulges stretch into long hollow stockings, heavy with dull, nagging pain.

Germes inside ballooning pockets often explode into feverish inflammation — diverticulitis. Queasy stomachs rumble. Abdominal muscles harden like a board and are tender as a boil!

Spasm stops up the passage and you double up with cramps. But bloating fades as rivers gush out.

Infection can burst the lining and ooze out into the abdomen. It may form a deep abscess or scatter widespread life-threatening infection — "peritonitis". Blood vessels break and bleed.

Smoldering diverticulitis scars may knot themselves around the intestine and strangle it.

Again it illustrates the complete uncertainty that dominates the campaign scene.

Warhorses of the old days — and there are some that still practice the art — used to delight in waiting until the very last minute to level a (supposedly) withering charge against an opponent; a charge leveled too late for opponent reply.

This sort of strategy used to be regarded as highly successful — although there was never any proof — but even this sort of thing began to wither on the vine as survey samplings revealed that, alas, an appalling number of voters never learned of the "great scandal" until after the election was over!

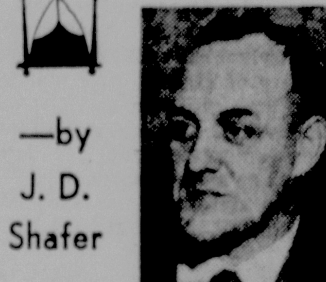

This year in both Republican and Democratic camps the candidates for governor (they're the only ones at contest) have been hip-flipping it pretty well right up to the flourishing finish line. But again the curious question recurs as to whether they should have folded their tents ten days or two weeks ago and returned home.

Supposedly it all boils down to that natural human element of believing that while there's life there's still hope; that a last minute fling may yet be "just the thing" to swing the balance wheel.

But perhaps one of the most amazing aspects of the campaign now ending is the somewhat "spirited" job carried on by Democratic organization candidate Richardson Dilworth. The opposition of his two opponents has been simply token opposition at best. Neither has conducted any sort of statewide campaign.

Hard campaigner Dilworth long has been conceded to have the upper hand by far in gaining the nod — yet hardly a day has passed that he hasn't been on the campaign trail this spring!

Veteran's Guide

Q—Will the VA pay for ambulance transportation to and from a VA hospital?

A—Only if prior authorization is obtained from the hospital. A veteran or a private physician may apply to the hospital by mail or phone for this authorization if (a) the veteran has a service-connected condition or (b) if a non-service-connected veteran can't pay the cost of the travel.

Q—A discharge or dismissal from service by sentence of a General Court-Martial bars veterans from benefits administered by the VA. Recently after a Navy veteran had been discharged by sentence of a General Court-Martial, the Navy Board for Correction of Naval Records held that his records should be corrected to show his separation was under honorable conditions. What about cases like this?

A—A recent decision of the VA General Counsel held that the action of the Board for Correction of Naval Records has the status of a special act of Congress for the veteran's relief, making the veteran eligible for VA benefits to which he is otherwise entitled.

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, May 14 — Sweeping changes in U. S. relations with the Communist and Nationalist Chinese governments are proposed in a new master plan of this nation's foreign policy objectives.

Entitled "Basic National Security Policy," the explosive 286-page State Department document recommends:

U. S. adoption of a "two-China" policy under which the Chinese Communist government would be admitted to the United Nations; Peiping be given a seat in the United Nations General Assembly, while the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa would retain its seat on the UN Security Council;

New diplomatic pressure be brought on the Chinese Nationalists to evacuate their troops from the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

The master plan, with these recommendations and 30 other major foreign policy and military strategy changes, is being circulated at the highest level in the Kennedy Administration for comment from other cabinet members.

Prepared by Dr. Walt W. Rostow, counselor and chairman of the Policy Planning Council of the State Department, this document will go to the National Security Council, the government's highest policy-making body, in June for a formal review.

Administration officials who have read Rostow's document say it is the most important policy paper proposed by any Administration official since President Kennedy took office.

Quoting literally from Winston Churchill and the Declaration of Independence, the Rostow plan

The Allen-Scott Report

State Dept. Proposing 'Two-China' Policy

rules out any U. S. military action against the Soviet Union or Communist China unless those nations launch a nuclear attack against the U. S. or Europe.

It calls for the Kennedy Administration to adopt a completely defensive containment policy against the spread of international Communism, stating that the ultimate U. S. objective is a peaceful world in which every nation can determine its own destiny.

THE BIG SWITCH — In proposing a new China policy, the Rostow document argues that the only practical solution is to admit Red China (as "China") and Formosa as a separate and independent state.

The plan is to offer Peiping a seat in the General Assembly on a par with Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists, but leave the permanent Security Council seat to the Nationalists.

If Peiping refused, this would at least remove from the U. S. the onus of blocking its admission, according to Rostow's document. U. S. recognition of Communist China would depend on whether Peiping accepted the "two-China" approach.

According to U. S. Intelligence estimates, there is not the slightest chance at the present time that Peiping would accept such second-class membership while Chiang retained the all-important Security Council seat. Moreover, Chiang has warned the U. S. that he would veto any proposal to tamper with the status quo.

Chiang's forced evacuation of the offshore islands is recommended as a major U. S. move to lessen tensions between Peiping and Washington.

It is argued that the withdrawal of Nationalist troops from Quemoy and Matsu would tend to strengthen Formosa and lessen the possibility of a limited war breaking out in that area which could "escalate" into a general nuclear war.

MILITARY OPPOSED — Already, the Joint Chiefs of Staff are preparing a strong counter argument, opposing any policy of "forced" evacuation of these offshore islands.

JCS members take the position that the presence of 120,000 Nationalist troops on Quemoy and Matsu has served as a stabilizing influence on the entire Far East.

They point out that these U. S.-trained and equipped troops have tied down with minor war risk and casualties, a sizable portion of the Chinese Communist armies that Peiping could use to support Communist military probes in Laos, South Vietnam, and on the India-China border.

Instead of evacuating the troops, the JCS wants them to stay on the offshore islands to continue to keep the Red forces immobile or until the Communists renounce their use of force against Formosa.

At the present time, the U. S. has no diplomatic relations with Communist China and only cursory diplomatic contact with it. Just the fact that U. S. officials are discussing a revision of its hitherto steadfast anti-Peiping policy on two fronts is expected to have a far-reaching impact on U. S. allies and neutrals who have previously stood aside in deference to Washington's non-recognition policy. Many of these nations will now be tempted to jump on the wagon of a "new approach" to the China problem when the issue is again raised in the UN in September.

Admiral Alan G. Kirk, whom President Kennedy has nominated as Ambassador to the Chinese Nationalist government, is expected to bear the brunt of sounding out President Chiang Kai-shek on the policy changes.

The 73-year-old World War II naval hero and former Ambassador to Moscow succeeds Everett F. Drumright, a career diplomat sent to Taiwan by President Eisenhower in 1958 and generally characterized as a vigorous partisan of the Chiang government.

Note: Other vital recommendations of this basic national security policy paper will be disclosed in subsequent columns.

FOREIGN FLASHES — The Dutch KLM airline has agreed to establish regular service to Albania, satellite of Red China. The airline and Albanian Communist government have come to terms on that, and the new route will open next week. It will be via Amsterdam to Munich to Dubrovnik to Tirana, and from there to Beirut via Brindisi. In exchange for this deal, KLM is guaranteed an air route to Red China... (How times have changed in Santo Domingo! A newly-enacted law bars public praise of the late dictator Trujillo; including all "writings, drawings, paintings and emblems" regarding his long and bloody tyranny. Penalties for violations of this new act are up to one year in jail and a fine of 500 pesos, or both...)

The Japanese Defense Ministry has approved the creation of a submarine force. Construction of the underwater craft will be in Japanese shipyards, and by 1965, seven subs are slated to be in service. A bullseye commentary in the Neue Ruhr Zeitung, leading West German independent newspaper, on the constantly recurring reports of an alleged "deep rift" between Moscow and Peiping says: "In spite of everything, there are many indications or both sides that Soviet and Red China are continually on guard not to bend the bow too far. The clashes in world Communism have shown them that grave consequences may result from a too uninhibited struggle. The present peace efforts' obviously represent an effort on their part not to permit these dangerous developments to get out of hand".... The Japanese International Trade Ministry has approved a $1.5 million sale of 200 trucks to Red China. Peiping also is sounding out the Japanese on the purchase of heavy electrical machinery, chemical equipment and other capital goods "on delayed payment terms".... Under the new Finnish-Soviet trade agreement, Russia has agreed to build a giant power plant on the Kola Peninsula. When completed in 1965, the plant will be the largest of its kind in Finland.

Why Bill Scranton will win in November!

Certainly it's no secret to the Democrats who have run against him in recent elections. Bill Scranton has general appeal... and very genuine appeal.

Bill Scranton knows how to capture votes deep in enemy territory:

- ★ In 1960 he was elected to Congress from the 10th District by a majority of nearly 18,000... despite a Democratic registration lead of 34,000!
- ★ In the same election he carried Lackawanna County where the Democrats had a registration lead of 50,000!
- ★ And last year under his leadership the Republican candidate for mayor was elected for the first time in 16 years in Scranton—against a Democratic registration lead of over 20,000!

This leaves little question. He is the only strong contender for the Republican gubernatorial candidacy. Be sure to support him in the primaries, May 15. Start Bill Scranton off with a tremendous majority vote of confidence May 15... for a roaring Republican victory in November!

BILL SCRANTON IS THE ONLY REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR WHO CAN WIN IN NOVEMBER! REPUBLICANS VOTE TUESDAY MAY 15

FELONY IN THE FOREST

SMOKEY talks a lot about forest fires started by carelessness. What you don't hear so much about are the forest fires that are set, on purpose, by your neighbors.

Surely, you say, nobody I know would do a thing like that! But you're wrong. One out of every four forest fires, nation-wide, is classed as INCENDIARY!

Even though the wilful forest fire problem is greatest in the South and the East, no part of the Country is free of it. You should know that the malicious woods burner robs you, wherever you live!

Do you want to help solve this serious problem? Here's what you can do:

1. Check with your local forest officers on the problem in your area.
2. Support your law enforcement officers.
3. Let your judicial and legislative servants know how you feel.

Remember- only YOU can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

Automation Cancels Blue Monday With Sears Home Laundry

JUST THE TOUCH OF THE BUTTON starts your laundry, with just the right amount and temperature of water for the fabrics in that load. This 1962 Sears Kenmore automatic washer also features bleach and rinse additive dispensers, and an exclusive automatic self-cleaning lint filter. The 1962 Sears Kenmore line of home laundry equipment is available exclusively at Sears, Roebuck and Co., Main Street, Stroudsburg.

Push-Buttons Give Laundering Ease

LIKE many other areas of modern homemaking, the task of doing the family wash has become a great deal more complicated — and a whole lot easier — in the past decade.

In Grandmother's day all that was required was a tub of hot water, a scrub board, a bar of yellow soap, the family's wash and a Monday. Today the entire picture has changed — even to the contents of the wash basket. At one time water temperature was judged by the amount of heat that the hands could stand, and everything to be washed was a natural fiber that could survive very hot and very cold water without damage.

The development of man-made fibers, coupled with new soaps and detergents, the need for hotter water for deep-down sanitizing and the elimination of Monday as a "must-wash day" has made radical changes in the home laundry picture.

For while the synthetic fabrics had a host of new features for comfort and appearance, many of them could not take the hard agitation of the washers of that day, and many women went back to washing some items by hand. New soaps worked even better with higher temperature water, but such temperatures, in many cases, were higher than the hands could stand.

The answer came in automation; and washday not only became easier, but it could now be any day of the week.

In today's automatic washers, push-button laundering has truly come of age. The 1962 Sears Kenmore automatic washer offers a wide range of washing cycles for every type of fabric and every degree of soiling.

For "wash and wear fabrics", for example, setting the "Wash and Wear" button automatically sets up the proper water temperature, rinsing and spin drying cycles for this type of fabric. Other push-buttons automatically set correct cycles for other fabrics and varying degrees of soiling.

Today's automatic dryers also offer a variety of drying times for 1962's wide range of fabrics and finishes. The 1962 Sears Kenmore automatic dryer features "soft-heat", a modulating drying control which insures the proper drying of all fabrics without the danger of baking or over-drying some of the more delicate textiles.

The 1962 line of Sears Kenmore laundry equipment, including wringer washers, automatic washers, gas and electric dryers and combination washer-dryers is available exclusively at Sears, Roebuck and Co. retail stores. See them locally at Sears, Main Street, Stroudsburg.

Scentsible Cedar Will Foil Moths

CEGAR closets are "scentsible." Pesky moths can cause hundreds of dollars of damage to woollens and furs if care isn't taken to protect the garments.

One of the easiest ways to protect clothes is to store them in closets lined with red cedar.

This aromatic wood repels moths effectively. Its fragrant aroma kills newly hatched moths before they can mature and attack surrounding items.

Cedar is popular with the do-it-yourselfer because it not only repels moths, but it also is an attractive finish for a closet. It is moderately priced, tongue-and-grooved for a snug fit, and easy to install.

The first step in lining a closet with aromatic red cedar is to remove old fixtures and equipment from the walls. Then locate the studs by punching holes in the plaster with a thin nail. Next build up the cedar lining, starting at the bottom and fastening the strips to the studs with four-penny nails.

TO THE VOTERS OF MONROE COUNTY:

As your candidate for the Republican nomination of Representative, I respectfully offer to you my qualifications to do the job as I believe it should be done.

In this area I was employed by the Pennsylvania Power & Light Co., in a sales and promotional capacity, for over eight years. I then came with the Stroudsburg Septic Tank Company twenty years ago. I am the manager, vice-president treasurer of this corporation. I am a member of the Stroudsburg Water & Sewage Authority, and a director of the First-Stroudsburg National Bank. I am active in and a supporter of church and civic affairs.

With my experience, both as employee and employer, I am well aware of the difficult problems facing the average taxpayer today. We must realize now that sound judgment and experience in political affairs are necessities. We are not only paying too high taxes, but we are not getting enough returns for the tax dollar. The same service at less cost can be obtained by conservative and experienced representation.

With the foregoing qualifications, I respectfully request your consideration and your vote for this office.

Nothing wrong with these hats. Pretty nice, in fact—back in the late 1940's. They deserved admiring glances, and got them.

But not today. There's a world of difference in fashions. A world of difference in ranges, too. You'll realize that when you see the new Flameless Electric models.

Space-saving styles. Built-ins. Surface units. Wall ovens. Work-saving features. Precision controls. Dependable timers. Beautiful colors. They'll make any kitchen more attractive.

Mothers Day annually leaves me a little frustrated in that I never seem to have done enough for my mother, but have had too much done for me. As the one in the middle, I'm blessed both ways.

One of the reasons this mother feels a little squirmy under the accolades is because I know full well that the pleasure has been all mine. Where is the sacrifice in spending your money, time and energy where you get the most profitable returns: pride in how the children look, pleasure in their happiness, comfort in their friendship and satisfaction in the people they've turned out to be?

One of the many compensations, I couldn't help thinking humbly at the bridal luncheon for Nancy, is when children reach an age that your friends become their friends. When they consider them not just as the parents of their own friends, but just somebody Mother likes, but as women with whom they share many common interests.

One of the magic touchstones that opens the door between generations is when girls begin to prepare for a home of their own. All of a sudden they notice and begin to appreciate the many talents the older women have: talents for decorating their home, for entertaining guests, for making cooking an art, for dressing well, for sharing their wisdom and kindness.

It is a time of deep satisfaction for a mother. Sitting there beaming fondly — and probably a little foolishly — I felt a certain kinship for Ollie. You remember Ollie of the never-ending story?

"And who should come round the corner but Ollie, all dressed up and bursting at the seams". Before this wedding is over I'm afraid you'll feel a kinship with the other character in the story who goes on: "So I said to Mother, 'Mother, I hate Ollie.'" And Mother said, "You mustn't hate Ollie. Why Ollie's the best friend the family ever had — and just then who should come round the corner but Ollie, all dressed up" etc. etc. etc.

Senator Scott, Mayor Schmidt Speak To GOP

The Monroe County Council of Republican Women held a pre-primary election dinner at Mount Airy Lodge with State Senator William Z. Scott and Scranton Mayor William Schmidt as guest speakers.

Montgomery F. Crowe served as master of ceremonies and introduced the candidates and officers of the Republican Party.

Sen. Scott urged the group to work harmoniously to elect what he termed "the finest slate of candidates we ever had": William Scranton for Governor; Van Zandt for U.S. Senator; Raymond Shafer for lieutenant governor and Audrey Kelly as secretary of Internal Affairs.

Mayor Schmidt came to the meeting to boost William Scranton as a candidate for Governor of the State. Scranton's personal influence had brought in new industrial firms and held big firms like General Electric in the area, Schmidt said.

He also said that Scranton and his wife were campaigning personally, and described some of the reactions of the public to that campaign, and praised his education at the Yale Law School, and his experience as former assistant to the Secretary of State.

Former Sen. Crowe closed the meeting by calling for cooperation in the party and rebuked the party for recent bickering.

Many guests stayed on for the Club Suzanne floor show.

Gardeners Hear Talk On Roses

Tannersville — "Roses" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Dale Learn of East Stroudsburg, at the May meeting of the Pocono Garden Club at the Tannersville fire house. In her talk she ranged from roses, one of the most beautiful and fragrant of flowers, used for medicinal purposes, beauty aids, and in cooking to the English "War of the Roses".

Mrs. Learn noted that while roses are the oldest of flowers, they are still the most popular. Fifty percent of all cut flowers sold are roses. The American Beauty rose is the official flower of the District of Columbia and the Cherokee rose of the state of Georgia. North Dakota, Iowa and New York have the wild rose for their state flower.

Methods of planting and the care of roses was discussed by Mrs. Learn. Slides of numerous varieties of roses were shown and admired. Ten exhibits, arrangements of Spring blossoms, were displayed.

Mrs. Esther Carson presided at the business session. Uniform containers, for flower show exhibits, were displayed and discussed. A letter from the Pocono Township Fire Company was read, thanking the club for their recent donation of $30.

Mrs. James N. Canfield, Jr., spoke on the field trip planned for June 12, when the club will visit the Sterling Forest Gardens, in New York.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Leon Parcell, Mrs. Frank Melvin, Miss Grace Dreher, Mrs. Albert Dowden, Mrs. Roy Heller and Mrs. Louis Spring.

Thirty seven members and one guest attended the meeting.

Rudy The Fox Visits Brownies

The tiny fox was brought to the meeting by Mrs. Josephine Woltjen. The girls have had a lamb, a pig, and a dog as guests, but agreed that the little wild fox was the best behaved of all. They admired his black boots and ears, and noted that he sat on his furry tail all through his visit.

There was a discussion of costume problems during the meeting, as preparations are under way for the Spring circus. Mrs. Jane Colan, Mrs. Woltjen, Mrs. Phyllis Jones and Mrs. Ethel Wohlfart were the leaders in attendance.

Federal Gift Taxes

By William A. Doyle
Q. I bought some stock, at a cost of $200, some 15 years ago. The stock is now worth about $1,400. I would like to give this stock to my 23-year-old daughter. Will there be any Federal gift tax at the time the stock is transferred from my name to her name?

A. Suppose we take things, one at a time. This would be a gift. So, there would be no capital-gains tax.

And, in this case there would be no gift tax. Each taxpayer has a $30,000 "lifetime exemption" from Federal gift taxes. This means that you can give away (not counting charitable gifts) $30,000 before any gifts you make become subject to gift taxes. For a married couple, making gifts jointly, the figure is $60,000.

In addition, each taxpayer has $3,000 "annual exclusions" from Federal gift taxes. This means that you can give away, tax-free, $3,000 to each of as many people as you want, each year. For a married couple, making gifts jointly, the figure is $6,000.

If your daughter sells, at a profit (as she would in this case), her cost basis will be the price you paid — $200. If any gift taxes had to be paid at the time of the transfer, her cost basis would be your cost price, plus those gift taxes.

If she were to sell at a loss, her cost basis would be your cost price or the market value at the date of the gift — whichever is lower. Again, if any gift taxes had to be paid, her cost basis would be raised by the amount of those taxes.

By the way, it's the donor who pays the gift taxes. She can sell the stock any time after you transfer it to her. At that point it belongs to her. She can do with it as she pleases.

Here's an interesting point. After you make the gift your daughter's "holding period" becomes the same as your holding period.

Tribe Takes First; Trip Yankees Twice

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland pounded New York pitchers for 24 hits Sunday in sweeping a doubleheader from the Yankees, 6-4 and 8-5, and charged into first place by a half game.

The Indians overcame a 5-0 deficit in the nightcap by scoring seven runs in three innings. Chuck Essagian's two-run single sparked a three-run Cleveland rally in the sixth inning that put the Indians ahead 7-5.

Dick Donovan, an Indians right-hander, pitched a five-hitter in the opener for his sixth straight victory without a loss.

The 37,415 fans saw eight home runs hit. Each team had four, but John Romano and Jerry Kindall each walked three-run homers for the Tribe. All the Yankee homers came with none on.

Cleveland trailed New York 5-0 in the nightcap before Kindall's clout off starter Jim Bouton narrowed the Yanks' margin to 5-3 in the fourth frame.

Barry Latman (2-3) got credit for the nightcap triumph in relief. Reliever Roland Sheldon (1-1) was the loser.

Myers Leaves For Grid Contest At Cotton Bowl

EAST STROUDSBURG star griddier Harold (Mach 2) Myers will be among 4 players participating in the 1962 High School All-American Football game slated for Friday night at the Cotton Bowl, Dallas, Tex.

Myers, a senior, left from New York City yesterday to prepare for the classic at Dallas. He will continue his training this week in preparation for the tilt.

Myers, a flashy halfback who has become known as Mach 2 because of his outstanding performances down through the years, was among the first chosen to take part in the 13th annual game. He will perform for the North team.

Many outstanding college and pro stars played in the game, including Bill Cannon, Mike and Marlin McKeever, Bart Starr, Les Richter, Jim Mutscheller, Marion Campbell, Hugh McElhenny, Rick Casares, Johnny Lattner, Jerry Tubbs, and many more.

The Varsity "E" Club of East Stroudsburg has spent $200 to purchase a full-page ad in the game's program. The ad features a picture of Myers and the Cavalier coach Jack Kist. The club also hopes to rent or purchase a film of the game for showing locally.

Myers parents are expected to leave some time this week to watch the game.

District XI Golf Tourney Starts Today At Glen Brook

THE largest field ever entered in the District XI PIAA golf tournament will tee off at 8 a.m. this morning at the Glen Brook Country Club.

Forty-eight golfers from 17 high schools are entered in the 16th annual tournament.

The management of Glen Brook is hosting the District XI tourney for the 7th successive year.

Most significant is the fact that for the first time the tourney will cover 36 holes. Eighteen holes had been the limit ever since the start of district play in 1946.

The players will be started by a "shotgun" method. Used for the first time, it means the players will be transported to nine different tees and will begin simultaneously at 8 a.m. on the firing of a shotgun. There will be no lag as groups await turns to start. Foursomes and threesomes will be scattered around the tees.

36-Holes
The 36-holes medal play will bring about six winners who will be eligible to enter the state tournament at state college.

The public is invited to watch the tournament. Rain date is Tuesday.

Difference In Cancer Societies

J. Joseph McCluskey, Stroudsburg attorney and president of the Monroe County Unit, American Cancer Society, announced yesterday that although leukemia is a form of cancer, Leukemia Society, Inc., has no connection with the American Cancer Society.

"We want to make this clear," McCluskey said, "because some of our cancer crusaders have reported to us that they have been asked by a representative of the Leukemia Society to do volunteer fund-raising for that group."

McCluskey said $2,000,000 of the American Cancer Society's research program is directly or indirectly related to finding out more about leukemia, which is particularly tragic form of cancer because it frequently occurs in children.
